O'DONOVAN ROSSA.

The King of Dynamiters Shot by a Woman on the Street in New York.

Portrait of the wounded man.

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—At 5:30 p. m. O'Donovan Rossa was shot in front of the Stewart building, on Chambers street, by a woman named Yesset Dudley. The woman was arrested, and Rossa taken to the Chambers Street Hospital. He was shot in the back under the right shoulder. When the woman was brought to the stationhouse she handed to the Police Sergeant a five-barrelled 32 calibre revolver, very coolly saying: "I guess they are all empty now." She had fired five shots, but only one had taken effect. She said she was a nurse and lived at 60 Clinton place; she came from England five months ago; she had an interview with Rossa on Saturday at his office; she met him to-day by appointment made by a letter from her to him. It is said that the letter is now in the hands of Patrick Joyce, Rossa's Secretary. The woman is handsome, and was fairly dressed in the style of a well-to-do English contingent.

By-standers who saw the shooting, say the woman drew the revolver from her dress pocket, and levelling it at Rossa, fired one shot. Rossa threw one hand above his head and cried:

"I'm shot!"

The woman fired the remaining bullets in the revolver at the prostrate man and calmly walked away, with the smoking pistol in her hand. She was followed by a large crowd, while a still larger mob surrounded the wounded dynamiter. City Marshal McAuley saw the pistol in the woman's hand and arrested her. She was taken to the 26th precinct station, in the City Hall. Her imperturbable gravity and coolness of demeanour were remarkable. When arraigned at the dock she handed her pistol to the Sergeant. Marshal McAuley said the woman was brandishing a pistol in the street. A citizen who entered the station with the prisoner said she had just shot a man in Chambers street.

"Do you know the man?" asked the Sergeant of the woman.

"Yes," she said, "I shot O'Donovan Rossa," said the prisoner, with a slight English accent.

She looked very demure and pretty as she stood at the bar and betrayed no excitement. She gave her name as Yesset Dudley, and said she was a native of England and a hospital nurse by occupation. She described herself as a widow, 25 years of age, but does not appear to be over 18.

A number of questions were put to her, but she preserved a dignified silence. She was locked up, and all reporters were denied admission to her for the present.

She declined to divulge the cause of the shooting, but it is presumed that it was in revenge for the recent dynamite explosion in London.

The physicians probed unsuccessfully for the ball in Rossa's wound. The wounded man's condition was so serious that he desired to make a statement under oath.

ROSSA'S ANTE-MORTEM STATEMENT.

Saturday, January 31st, at about 3 o'clock p. m., I received a letter at my office in Chambers street. The message was in writing, and delivered by a messenger. The body of the note stated that a lady wished to see me; that she was interested in the Irish cause, and wished to assist it. She said she did not care to go to my office and remain waiting there until I came. She would talk for ten minutes time. The boy told me the lady was in the telegraph office in the Stewart building at Broadway and Chambers street. I went with him and I met her. I told her it would be well to go to some hotel as the telegraph office was no place to talk in. We came out and went to Sweeney's hotel. We went in the ladies' parlor, and she said she would be able to give me considerable money if anything good was done. She then said she would call again on Monday, February 2, at 4 p. m. She sent another messenger to my office and went to the same telegraph office and met the lady. She showed me a paper I was to sign; she then suggested that we go to the hotel; we walked down Chamber street toward Broadway, and we got a short distance when the woman stepped back and fired two or three shots at me. One of the balls entered my back.

JEREMIAH O'DONOVAN ROSSA.
NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—A hospital bulletin at 1 a. m. says: Rossa is sleeping quietly, and the indications are favorable to his speedy recovery. His wife left for her home in Brooklyn at 11 o'clock last night.

England's Queen.

Queen Victoria is but sixty-five years old; she is a tolerably robust old lady, and her chances of living twenty years longer are, by all accounts, pretty nearly as good as those of Albert Edward himself. When the Prince of Wales, supposing him to survive his royal mother, becomes Edward VII, King of Great Britain and Ireland and Emperor of India, he will very probably be a grand-father, though that isn't likely; and before Albert Victor has served his apprenticeship as Prince of Wales and ascends the throne as Victor I, England will certainly have grown very much older, and doubtless much more democratic. Perhaps there will be no throne in England for him to ascend.

ROUGH ON RATS.

An Incident of Gen. Buell's March to Pittsburg Landing.

While on the march from Columbia, Tenn., about the third of April, 1862, to join General Grant's army at Pittsburg Landing, we waited for the night, after a hard day's march, and bivouacked on the banks of a creek some distance between Columbia and the Tennessee river where were several distilleries, all of them, though, being shut down on account of the war, and from the outward appearance of the buildings it had been a long time since their owners had "made a mash." The boys soon "piped them off" all the same, and effected an entrance to one of them. It was dark inside, though they managed to discover a number of large tubs containing a liquor of some kind, which, after being scented by experts, was pronounced "hess." It was sour, but very pleasant to take.

Down into the tubs, in the dark, went a hundred or more canteens, and they soon "guzzled" themselves full, when over to the regiment the canteen brigade marched, carrying the news of their discovery.

After the officers and others sampled the article they pronounced it bulky, and there was a general stampede for that 'ere still-house. It beat the rush for the gold-fields of Pike's Peak in its peakiest days, and a path was soon worn across a field that laid between the still-house and our regiment. The trail was easily followed in the dark, and they kept going and coming until near midnight.

The boys didn't eat any supper that night. Being tired and worn out by the long march during the day, they filled up fuller than ticks with the white still beer, or whatever it was, and lazily rolled in for the night.

Among those who pronounced it good—exceedingly good—was Captain Glasscock, who was carrying the "buttermilk," as he called it, until it began to get kinder thick in the tubs, and needed stirring up. "Get me another canteenful of that buttermilk," the Captain was heard to say several times during the night, and he got it.

All had now become quiet. The boys had got their fill, and were sweetly dreaming of "Home sweet home."

Morning came at last, and off for the still-house they again trotted for more "buttermilk." But many canteens were filled, for when daylight had peeped in numerous dead rats could be seen "skimming" upon the surface of the "buttermilk" in each of the tubs, and the Lord knows how long the dead rodents had "skimmed" there, as the rats had been about all worn off of them by coming in contact with the hundreds of canteens that had passed over them during the night.

It was mighty "rough on rats," and rougher on the boys who got their stomachs full of the stuff. You'd a-died to have seen the canteens they cut in trying to get rid of it.

In these days Captain Bruce Glasscock carried about as much sunshine in his composition as any one I ever met, but he was the forlornest individual in the regiment that morning, and after the close of the war it didn't do at all to mention that "buttermilk" incident in his presence.

DECEMBER 29, 1884. PHILIP ADAIR.

Run Down—Helped Up.

The story which Mrs. J. W. Ellis of Minburn, Iowa, tells, is one in which many thousands of the ladies of America have a vital interest. Briefly it is this: "I suffered for several years from general debility and nervousness. In fact, I was completely run down. I had tried two doctors, but they could not do me any good. I tried Brown's Iron Bitters. Since then I have used four bottles. It has helped me up and done me a great deal of good, and I would not be without it." Why will any lady suffer with debility while a dollar will buy a bottle of Brown's Iron Bitters?

Noms De Plume of the Stage.

Here is a list I made out the other day, during an odd hour, just for my amusement. It gives first the name under which the artist is generally known and after that the real name. You see, here it is:

Miss Rose Eytting, really Mrs. G. H. Butler.

Miss Clara Morris is Mrs. Harriott.

Miss Kate Claxton is, or was before her divorce, Mrs. Dora Lyon.

Mrs. F. S. Chanfrau's maiden name was Henrietta Baker.

Pauline Markham's maiden was Margaret Hall; she afterward became Mrs. McMahon.

Adelaide Neilson was Mrs. Lee.

Ilma Di Murska has six real names, for she married five times. No. 5 being a Mr. Hill.

Miss Pauline Lucca, really Baroness Von Walhofen.

Miss Leona Dare, known at home as Miss Bridget McCarthy.

Henri Laurent, tenor in comic operas, is the assumed name of Henry L. Gisleng.

Oliver Doud Byron, recently performing at the Howard in this city, has transposed his name from Oliver B. Doud.

Miss Marie Wainright bore the unpleasant-sounding name of Mrs. Slaughter.

Miss Kitty Blanchard, as she once was called, is now known under her real name of Mrs. McKee Rankin.

Buffalo Bill is the Hon. William F. Cody. Texas Jack was John Omo-hundro. Wild Bill was William Hickok.

Stratton.

Mrs. William Anderson was Miss Euphemia Jefferson, eldest daughter of Jesse Jefferson, Sr.

Mrs. Daniel E. Bandman's maiden name was Miss Alice Herschel.

Mrs. Lawrence Barrett's maiden name was Mary F. Mayer.

M. Blondin, the rope-walker, had as his real name Emile Gravellet.

Mrs. George C. Boniface's maiden name was Miss Hollerich.

Agnes Booth's maiden name was Marian Agnes Land Rookes; she became Mrs. Perry, the second wife of Harry Perry, and afterward Mrs. Booth, the third wife of J. B. Booth, Jr.

George N. Christy was George Harrington.

Mrs. Edward L. Davenport's maiden name Fanny Vining.

Matilda Heron was Mrs. Robert Stoepel (divorced).

Laura Keene's maiden name was Lee; she married a Mr. Taylor.

Mrs. Charles Kemble's maiden name was Miss De Camp.

Olive Logan is Mrs. Wirt Sykes.

Fanny Morant is Mrs. Charles Smith.

Rachel, the great tragedienne, was the contracted stage name of Elizabeth Rachel Felix.

Sebastian (the circus rider) bore the full name of Sebastian Valci Mora.

Mrs. Jenny Van Zandt's maiden name was Jenny Blitz.

Mrs. Frank Lawlor was, before marriage, Josie Mansfield.

Emma Nevada, the talented young singer, is the daughter of Dr. Wixon.

She assumed the name "Nevada" from the State, as Albany assured her name from the city of Albany, N. Y.

Henry Lee, the new leading man to Fanny Davenport, is really Heinrich Rozenzweig.

Miss Fiesecue, who has recently been brought prominently forward on account of a suit for breach of promise against Lord Garmoyne, the son and heir of Earl Cairns, is really Miss Finney.—Boston Journal.

Concerning Red Hair.

Many people admire red hair, but if you do not, Parker's Hair Balm will impart to it a darker hue. It will also thicken thin hair, eradicate dandruff, and impart softness, glossiness and life to hair which has become dry and harsh. Not a dye, does not soil the linen. Gives a delicious perfume. An elegant dressing. no.5-1m.

Not Exactly Murder.

"Murder!"

This cry in a well-known hotel in Detroit the other afternoon, proceeding from a room on the third floor, caught the ears of several chambermaids and created instant consternation.

"O, heavens!"

It was the voice of a man who shrieked the words from room No. 40, and the chambermaid at once sent a messenger to the office with the news that murder was being committed.

"Don't kill me by inches!"

These words alarmed others besides the chambermaids, and the group of three or four presently grew to a dozen. Who occupied the room? One of the chambermaids recollected of seeing a beetle-browed man of generally practical look, accompanied by a woman closely veiled, enter No. 40. Was he killing her?

"O! O! you are killing me!"

It was the voice of the man. The veiled woman had got him in her power, and seemed to be submitting him to some sort of torture. Several of the crowd knocked at the door at once, and one of the chambermaids demanded in a falsetto voice that it be opened at once. There was a ha! ha! ha! from the veiled woman, and the voice of the man cried out:

"What, do you mock at my misery?"

A clerk came from the office and demanded admittance in the name of the law, the continental Congress and several other things, and after some little delay, the door was opened and a woman stood in the opening and asked what was wanted.

"What's going on in there—who's being hurt?"

She laughed her ha! ha! ha! again, and it was echoed by the voice of a man behind her.

"What's all this about?" shouted the clerk.

"Why, sir," she demurely replied, "I was only pulling a porous plaster off my husband's back."

Queen Victoria is now 66. King Christian of Denmark is 66, and his wife, the Queen, is a year older. The emperor of Austria is 54 and his wife is 46, while King Leopold of Belgium, 49 years old, has a wife aged 50. The Sultan of Turkey is 42, King Oscar of Sweden 55, Louis of Portugal 46, Humbert of Italy 40, and President Grey of France 71.

We have had almost all other kinds of "phones," including telephones, but the latest invention is the "loco-phone," a mechanical contrivance for dispatch and safety in the running of railway trains. It was invented by one F. H. Tyler, and is being tested on some of the Eastern roads. It is an apparatus resembling the telephone, which is designed to place each engineer on the road while the trains are moving at the highest speed in instantaneous speaking communication with the train dispatchers at the different stations. All the engineers on the road receive the message at the same moment. The circuit is made over the rails.—Ex.

During the campaign a Cincinnati cigar dealer offered prizes for the customer making the nearest guess to the number of votes the successful candidate for President would receive. The number of guesses ran up into the thousands, and varied in figures hundreds of thousands, and the approach to exact accuracy in some cases was remarkable. Cleveland's exact vote, which is reported by the Secretaries of State at 4,872,170, was, of course, named by no one, but Mr. A. R. Payne came within one of it, his number being 4,872,180. One guesser missed it by three, another by nine, and another by twelve. There were guesses that came within 100 of being correct, and thirty-four were only sixty-nine off.

The Kentucky Divorce Law.

A divorce may be obtained in Kentucky upon the following grounds: Living apart without cohabitation for five years; desertion for a year, conviction of a felony; force, duress or fraud in obtaining marriage; contracting a loathsome disease; uniting with any religious society which requires renunciation of the marriage contracts or forbids cohabitation; confirmed drunkenness of the husband with improvidence continued for a year; habitual misbehavior of the husband continued in a cruel and inhuman manner not less than six months; cruel beating or injury to the wife or attempts at the same confirmed mental unsoundness for three years continuously, as a result of intemperance or hereditary taint. One year's residence required.

Communication.

WETUMPKA, ALA., Sept. 28, 1834.—About six years ago I became afflicted with a very disagreeable skin disease, with large, dry sores and many crusted pimples on my face, hands and shoulders. The sores on my shoulder cut out a hole nearly an inch deep, and the cancerous appearance of one of the sores near my eye alarmed me very much. I tried all kinds of treatment, but found nothing that seemed to affect the disease. I finally decided to try S. S. S. on advice of a physician, and in a short time the sores dropped from the sores and left my skin smooth and well. I consider S. S. S. the greatest blood medicine made, and the only thing that will cure the disease with which I was afflicted. I think my trouble was the result of a terrible attack of malaria fever, contracted while farming in the Tallapoosa river swamp. I can be found at my office in the court house at Wetumpka. You can refer to me. J. L. RHOADES, Dep. Sheriff Elmore Co., Ala.

The "thought-reader" placed his hands on the man's head, withdrew it and struck him a fearful blow on the nose. When the man got out from under the chair and asked the reader what he hit him for, he replied: "Just as I placed my hand on your head you thought I was a d-d fool, and I don't allow any man to think that, no matter if he's as big as a Coney Island hotel."

A Costly Pair of Boots.

In the last few weeks of the war a Confederate, serving under Lee, wrote home to his father that he was almost barefooted and completely discouraged. As soon as the old man received the letter he mounted his mule and set off at a gallop, but soon halted by an acquaintance, who called out—

"Hello! has there been another fight?"

"Not as I've heard of, but I've got a letter from Cyrus."

"What does Cyrus say?"

"He's out o' butes and clean discouraged."

"And where are you going?"

"Down to Abner Smith's to borrow $700.00 to send to Cyrus to get a cheap pair of shoes; and we're going to write him a long letter, and send him a box o' pills, and tell him to hang on to the last; for, if Cyrus gets low-spirited and begins to let go, the infernal Yanks will be riding over us afore we kin back a mule out the barn."

"That's so! that's so!" nodded the other. "I kin let you have the money myself as well as not. I will be saving up to buy three plugs o' tobacco and a box o' matches all at once, but the army mustn't go barefooted when it only takes $700.00 or $800.00 to buy a purty good pair o' shoes.—Austin (Tex.) Dispatch.

What Is Dynamite?

From the Philadelphia News.

Nitro-glycerine is prepared by the action of a mixture of concentrated nitric and sulphuric acids upon glycerine introduced drop by drop.

Dynamite is made by mixing some absorbent with nitro-glycerine. The best article for this purpose is a silicious infusorial earth found in Hanover. It will absorb three times its weight of the nitro-glycerine.

It produces three times as much gas and twice as much heat as gunpowder. It may be exploded by a primer charged with fifteen grains of fulminating mercury—like a percussion cap.

Senator "Joe" Brown is the ruling spirit of a large railroad in Georgia. He was being hauled over one day in his special car when the conductor came to him with a long face and a long list of complaints. "You are aboard, and he didn't know what to do with him. 'Where does he wish to go?' asked the Senator, in his quiet, easy way. 'He says he wants to go to h—,' said the man of the bell-rope. 'Oh, well,' replied Mr. Brown, 'put him off at Cartersville.' And the town has never recovered from the joke.—New York Tribune.

A new mechanical cotton picker is said to be an entire success. Commissioners appointed on behalf of the New Orleans Exposition have followed the machine in the field, and record their official opinion that one picker, carefully driven, drawn by one mule, and followed by three ploughs will do the work of four pairs of human hands. The flying metallic fingers pluck only the full-blown cotton. The plants are uninjured. The fiber thus plucked is automatically bagged.

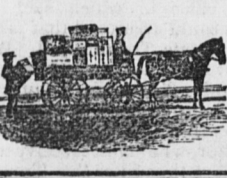

The gathering and curing of sumac is an important industry in Virginia. The sumac leaves are carefully dried on green leaves. It takes several pounds of sumac to make one pound of dyes. The price paid is about one dollar and twenty-five cents for a hundred pounds, but a man has to be a very nimble picker to secure enough green leaves in one day to make one hundred pounds when dried. Sumac grows wild and requires no cultivation.

Five murderers are under sentence to hang in Arkansas on April 17.

It will simplify matters a good deal and make the President's duties easier, if the Republican politicians now in office will have a sufficient sense of propriety to hand in their resignations promptly after the 4th of March.

No two of the daily papers gave Ross's assassin the same name Tuesday. Her surname appeared as Hudley and Dudley and her christian name was given as Yeslet, Yezlet, Yevli, Yesult, and Yescult. The name was evidently a hard one for telegraph operators to tackle.

Gov. Pattison, the Democratic Governor of Pennsylvania, who went in through a Republican split on the tidal wave of 1882, will enter the ministry at the expiration of his term. With 80,000 majority in favor of Blaine last year, Pennsylvania is certainly a fruitful field for ministerial labors.

A mysterious visitor was detected in an attempt to enter the window of the house of Mr. West, the British Minister at Washington, Tuesday night. He was frightened away by the watchman. Two detectives are now trying to ferret the mystery. Was he a dynamite avenger or a common tramp?

Col. H. M. McCarty denies in a card that he ever said anything to give the Owensboro Messenger ground to hint at the State's finances. On the other hand Editor Bradford of the Messenger, also publishes a card in which he gives Col. McCarty as his authority for the statement. Thus the matter stands.

At Sandusky, O., a party of nine young people were returning from a ball in a sleigh and while crossing the railroad were struck by a train and two of the party killed and six dangerously wounded. The question now is, would they have met with the accident if they had been returning from church?

A wise man has discovered that the figures "22" occupy considerable space in President Cleveland's history. To begin there are 22 letters in his name. He was born on the 22d day of the month, is the 22d President of the United States, executed a man on the 22d of the month, and there are just 22 letters in Rev. Mr. Burchard's celebrated alliteration.

Mrs. Laura Deferree Gordon, of California, was admitted to the bar of the United States Supreme Court Monday. She is the second female who has been thus admitted. Mrs. Belva A. Lockwood being the first. The latter has only argued one case since her admission, in March 1879.

If those of our Republican friends who expect to make a change in their business engagements this spring will accept a little friendly counsel, we would suggest that grip-sacks and carpet-bags may be procured much cheaper by purchasing them in wholesale lots. It might be well to arrange some unity of action before the "packing" season arrives.

Jas. K. Jones, after a long contest, was last Saturday nominated by the Democrats for Senator from Arkansas. With his advent March 4, the Senate will have three Joneses, one each from Arkansas, Florida and Nevada. The Jones family with 4 per cent of the Senate and a strong delegation in the House can for once flap its wings and crow over the Smiths and Browns.

Those two excellent little dailies, the Bowling Green Times and Gazette, have been consolidated into the Times-Gazette. In taking this step Messrs. Gaines and Porter have acted wisely. They can now unite their talents and interests and make a first-rate daily out of two poorly patronized ones. The consolidation was brought about by the burning of the Times office last week.

Hon. Jno. W. Bookwalter, the Democratic politician and wealthy manufacturer of Springfield, Ohio, has purchased an Italian villa on the Mediterranean sea and will pass his remaining days there. Ill health is the cause assigned for his voluntary exile. Mr. Bookwalter might combine business with pleasure by securing the appointment as Minister to Italy at a salary of $12,000.

The Illinois Legislature is at last organized and will be ready to begin balloting for Senator next Tuesday. Both sides will caucus. On Tuesday Black and Allen withdrew from before the Democratic caucus, leaving Harrison and Morrison the only candidates and assuring the latter's nomination. Logan will in all probability be the Republican nominee. The recent death of Senator Bridges left the Republicans with one majority, but Morrison is confident of receiving the votes of two or three Republicans. Stitt, a Chicago Republican member, is a bitter enemy to Logan, and will not vote for him. The sickness of a member may decide the question next Tuesday. It looks now like Logan will be out of a job after March "alicee samee" as his late running mate. However, there is a contingency in which he may succeed himself. Should the Legislature be unable to elect a Senator, it is understood that Gov. Oglesby would appoint Gen. Logan.

WATCHING THE STATE'S MONEY.

How Auditor Hewitt and Treasurer Tate Manage the Finances.

[Special Dispatch to The Commercial.]
FRANKFORT, Ky., Feb. 3.—The widely published rumors leading to the inference that there was a tremendous defalcation in some connection with the State finances, have aroused considerable indignation among the Frankforters, who know the State officers well. Yet I found all of the officers themselves perfectly placid and good-humored when I dropped into the State-house this morning to ask some questions about the affairs of State. Whether there was any definite origin to the rumor or not, is now a question of better veracity between Col. H. M. McCarty, Assistant Secretary of State, and Mr. C. W. Bransford, one of the editors of the Owensboro Messenger; but that there was really no ground for the rumor seems perfectly plain. There is only one office in which such a defalcation could occur, and that is in the office of State Treasurer, J. W. Tate. Now there has been no examination of this office since January 1884, though his balances at the end of every month tally with those of the State Auditor, who must receive all moneys before they enter the Treasury, and issue warrants for every dollar paid out. Under this check it would appear improbable for any irregularity to occur, without the Treasurer kept a double set of balances, one for comparison, the other for use. There are two examinations of the Treasury made every two years. One by a commission of the Legislature, which is usually a very cursory and nominal affair, as the State officers, themselves admit. The other is by the Secretary of State and the Auditor, who compares his bank deposits, balances and other items to see that the State's money is actually there. This was made in 1884 and none has been made since. But the fact that Mr. Tate's books have been scrupulously accurate and his accounts perfectly honest for so many years warrants the presumption that they are still in that condition.

HOW THE MONEY IS WATCHED.
"When an express package of money arrives," said Auditor Hewitt, "I do not touch it myself. I go into the Treasurer's office with the express messenger, where the money is opened and counted. I then receipt for it and take Col. Tate's receipt for it. Thus, you see the check is complete." Thus, even if the condition of affairs in the Treasury were not straight, no rumor of it could have got out, because of course if the Treasurer were culpable he would keep the secret, and there has been no indication of anything but the strictest honesty in the balances and usual manifestations.

Some time was spent in the Treasury, where the only news of interest to be learned was that popular institution was collapsed. There is very little money in the Treasury and a haul of the whole amount would not warrant the expense of a Canadian voyage.

COL. McCARTY'S CORRESPONDENCE.
Since the publication of the startling rumor, Col. McCarty, who was supposed to have uttered the intimation in a spirit of jocularity, has been carrying on an extensive correspondence with Editor Bransford. Col. McCarty denies point blank having said anything which could be tortured into an intimation of crookedness. Upon calling at his office he was found at his desk and said there was nothing more to be said by him.

"Will you allow me to see the correspondence between yourself and Mr. Bransford?" was asked.
"Certainly not," said he, "Mr. Bransford's letters are marked 'private,' and of course I can make no further statement nor use the correspondence without his permission."
"But if his permission is obtained you will?" was suggested.
"Certainly. There is nothing that I can object to in any of them. I have no objection to the world's reading it all."

The startling charges of fraud thus laid entirely to the ground, while the interest centers in what kind of an imagination the Owensboro editor has to see so great a sensation in an old joker's remarks, or what kind of a memory Col. McCarty must have to forget his jokes, if he made any.

In the event of a duel it is understood here that Col. Dick Tate will act as second to Col. McCarty—second to get behind a tree.

O'Donovan Rossa, the Irish dynamiter, shot by a woman last Monday, is recovering. He says the woman is an emissary of the English government and was hired to kill him. Rossa threatens an era of personal assassination, which he says England has inaugurated against Irish sympathizers. Mrs. Dudley was arraigned in court, and held until Rossa can appear against her. It has been learned that she is an illegitimate daughter of an Englishman of rank, and before coming to America was an inmate of an asylum and attempted at one time to commit suicide. She had two children both of whom are dead. The chaplain of the institution in which she was confined is on his way to America to testify at her trial.

Dr. Christopher Columbus Graham, the venerable centenarian, died Tuesday at the residence of his son-in-law, Rev. J. J. Cooke, in Louisville. Dr. Graham celebrated his 100th birthday on the 10th of last October. Shortly after this event he made a visit to Warren, Todd and Woodford counties to visit relatives. During these trips he contracted the sickness that ended his remarkable career on the 3d inst. He was born near Danville Kentucky, Ky., Oct. 10, 1784, to which place his remains were taken for interment.

The startling statement is made that Pittsburgh, Penn., is the headquarters for a gang of dynamiters who are ready for work and anxious for a pretext to try their hands on some of the mills that are throwing laborers out of employment. The city is compared to a smoldering volcano ready to be destroyed on the slightest provocation.

Nashville is shortly to have a new paper to be called the Daily Union.

KENTUCKY KNOWLEDGE.

Henderson capitalists are talking of establishing a system of electric light. S. M. Tutt, of Wolfe, is the fourth sheriff to settle with the Auditor for 1884.

Sam Holman, the murderer of town marshal Taylor, of Morganfield, has been captured.

Booker Reed, Louisville's reform mayor, has cut his own salary down from $3,000 to $2,000.

Jim Cleveland was perhaps fatally stabbed thirteen times by Willis O'Nan and Jim Bruce at King's Mills, in Henderson county.

Chas. Brumback waived an examination at Winchester for the murder of B. F. Webb, and went to jail without asking bail.

Ross Robinson, of Warren county, suicided by shooting himself through the heart. Domestic infelicity and financial misfortunes were the cause.

A team of horses ran away at Millwood, Grayson county, throwing the driver, Col. Kinney, out of the wagon and crushing his skull, from which he died.

Old as was Dr. Graham, Louisville has another citizen, who is a year older than he was when he died—Asa Emmerson. He is over 101 years old, but is confined to his bed and cannot long survive.

There are now 671 idle convicts in the penitentiary, 47 of them being females. There is no work for them to do in the State prison and there are no bids for convict labor. The criminals are simply having a good time at an expense to the State of $200 a day.

Col. Jno. R. Allen, of the State Guard, and Miss Eliza Duncan, both of Lexington, were married Tuesday. Miss Annie Bell Bowman was driving a vicious hog out of her father's yard, near Lexington, when the animal attacked her and made a serious wound on her thigh with his tusks, six inches long.

At Maysville, Wm. Catron, who shot and killed Wm. Collins last week, had his examining trial and the warrant against him was dismissed. The evidence showed that Catron caught Collins in the act of hugging and kissing his (Catron's) wife and shot him on the spot. The action of the court was generally approved.

Last Sunday, in Mason county, John Tucker was shot and killed while lying in bed. The Coroner's jury found that Tucker came to his death from a rifle shot fired by his wife. She is in custody, and had her preliminary trial at Sardis, Wednesday. She is but twenty-two years old, while her husband was sixty. They have been married about one year. Their married life has been unpleasant, the wife, it is charged, having been too free with several young men in the neighborhood.

Intelligence has reached London, Laurel county, of the burning of the Perry county jail on the night of January 21, in which fire Abner Eversole, a young man of eighteen years, lost his life. On the 5th day of last October, Eversole shot and killed Mrs. Wm. Boker, an aged lady, for which he was tried at the last term of the Perry Circuit Court, convicted and sentenced to hang, but had been granted a new trial, and was awaiting his second trial when he met his death. The fire is supposed to have been the work of an incendiary.

After much experimenting, Dr. Richardson has found a satisfactory means of causing painless death, and has introduced it into the Home for Lost Dogs in London. The animals to be killed are placed in a chamber charged with a mixture of carbonic oxide and chloroform vapor, when they tranquilly fall asleep and awake no more.

A number of prominent Treasury officials at Washington announce their readiness to give way to new men when the Cleveland Administration begins work. Once again are we reminded of the unfortunate gentlemen who had lost his wife by death. "Was she resigned?" asked a sympathizing friend. "Resigned?" replied the grief-stricken husband; "she had to be."—Louisville Times.

The Philadelphia Times finds fault with a bill before the Pennsylvania Legislature forbidding the marriage of minors without having first procured license, because it is only a half-way measure. In fact, "the bill," says the Times, "should include all marriages, and require either the Prothonotary or Register and Recorder to keep a record of all licenses granted." We hope this is not a back-handed blow at the late Mr. Blaine.—Louisville Times.

We infer from the excited manner of our Tennessee exchanges that some one has lost or mislaid a caucus in that State. If Admiral Doak has it concealed anywhere about the Avalanche office he should send it to Capt. Merrill, care of the World, Nashville, who appears to have experienced much woe on account of its absence.—Louisville Times.

COME HOME, DEAR JOHNNY, COME HOME.

If John D. White will come home and never run for another office all will be forgiven.—Commercial.

Out West they hung a horse-thief to a wagon the other day. They probably hung him to the High-pin.—Glasgow Times.

Christian Circuit Court.
L. E. ELKINS, Equity,
KATE ELKINS, Ex parte.
This day came L. E. Elkins and Kate Elkins and filed their separate petition in equity, praying that the said Kate Elkins may be empowered to use and enjoy, sell and convey for her own benefit any property she may now own, or may hereafter acquire, free from the claims of her husband; and that she may make contracts, sue and be sued as a single woman, and that she may be empowered to trade in her own name and dispose of her property by will or deed.

It is ordered that this order be published in the SOUTH KENTUCKIAN, a newspaper published in Hopkinsville, Ky., the length of time prescribed by law.
Witness my hand as Clerk of said Court, this 3rd day of February, 1885.
R. T. UNDERWOOD, C. C. C. C.
HENRY & PAYNE, Attorneys.

John D. White was again on exhibition in the House yesterday. There is a suspicion abroad that Mr. White is a dynamite bomb in very thin disguise. He will be fired March 4.—Louisville Times.

This month is the season for making maple syrup. By-the-way, the practice of adulteration is so general that but little of the genuine maple syrup or sugar can be had on this market.

The late frozes and thaws have left the pavements in a very bad fix in some parts of the city.

THE amount of money which the Peruvian Government has received from the sale of guano is estimated at $2,400,000,000 of dollars. All it has to show for this large sum are four or five railroads, which have cost $150,000,000. On the night the contract for the Oroquieta railroad was signed Meigs, the contractor, is said to have presented the wife of the President of the republic with a handsome bouquet, concealed in which were bills to the amount of $500,000.

SOCIALITIES.

Joe Mulhatten is in the city.

Dr. A. Goldstein, the oculist, has gone to Henderson.

Mr. J. W. Pritchett, of Dawson, was in the city this week.

Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Long are boarding at Dr. Jas. A. Young's.

Mr. W. R. Williams, of Tennessee, is visiting Mr. W. Grissam's family this week.

Miss Minnie Walker, of Fairview, is visiting Mr. W. Grissam's family this week.

Mrs. Frank Myrick, of Henderson, is visiting her sister, Mrs. L. F. Atkinson this week.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Warfield returned Tuesday from a visit to the New Orleans Exposition.

Mr. W. A. Nisbet and wife, of Madisonville, are visiting the family of Mr. F. L. Ellis this week.

Mr. J. H. Pierce, of Anson, Tex., arrived last week on a visit to the family of his father, Mr. Geo. R. Pierce.

Eld. Wm. A. Broadhurst, pastor of the Second Christian Church, Louisville, is in the city under treatment by Drs. Gish & Young for throat troubles.

Miss Mollie Martin, of Hopkinsville, is in the city, the guest of her cousins Misses Mary and Sallie Sassen, on lower Main street. She will remain several weeks.—Henderson Reporter.

Mr. Elmo Steger and his mother left Thursday for Hopkinsville, where they will remain a few days. Mr. Steger will then go to California to seek a location. He is a genial, clever and industrious young man, and has our best wishes for his success wherever he may go.—Paducah Standard.

Valentines!

Largest assortment in town at Holland & Rodgers' confectionery.

Only a Farmer's Daughter.

The play has received the endorsement of W. Winter, of the New York Tribune; F. LeFolant, of the New York Herald; Thomas Keene, of the Buffalo Courier, and in fact all the critics of Eastern cities, and large audiences attest the popularity of the play and players. The theme is pure, the plot strong, the moral of the best, and the story intensely interesting. We welcome such American plays.—Burlington Hawkeye.

This popular play will be presented at the Opera House next Wednesday evening and merits a good house. Tickets as usual.

The following marriage licenses have been issued by the county clerk this week:

W. H. Gray to Jennie Rawlins.

T. H. Shepard to Sarah E. Bryant.

Henry Vanhooker to Ellen L. McFadyen.

COLORED.

Mack Green to Susie Bronaugh.

The Gus Heege Co., recently through Kentucky, has been enjoined from playing Peck's Bad Boy, by the U. S. Court at Pittsburgh. Peck claims that it is an infringement upon his authorized version.

HERE AND THERE.

Howe's time is the city standard.

"Only a Farmer's Daughter" February 11th.

The ground hog's prediction bids fair to be verified.

Rev. Mr. Nourse will preach at the Southern Presbyterian church next Sunday.

Holland & Rodgers have the new and novel EASEL Valentines. Call and see them.

A slip of the pencil made us say in our last issue that lent would begin to-morrow instead of Wednesday.

The Phoenix Hotel Saloon was closed several days last week undergoing repairs, but is now open for business.

Fred Warde will give three performances here next week—two nights and a matinee—the 13th and 14th insts. The programme will be arranged in time for us to give full or particulars in our next issue.

Mr. Will P. Acker, of Fort Leavenworth, Kansas, who arrived in the city last week, is an accomplished musician and is temporarily playing the clarinet with the H. C. Band.

Mr. Acker will locate here if he can secure employment.

Not long ago the J. I. Case Plow Co. made an assignment, but Mr. Case, the head of the firm, has arranged the matters of the late company and will himself continue to manufacture the celebrated J. I. Case plow, at Racine, Wis.

While doing some fancy skating on Forbes' pond Thursday night, Mr. H. P. Wisdom went backwards through a hole where the ice had been cut, into water eight feet deep. Fortunately he came to the surface at the point where he fell in, and managed to crawl out without injury, but very wet.—Tobacco Leaf.

There will be a grand masquerade ball at the College hall in Crofton on Friday evening the 13th inst. The committee on invitation consists of Dr. J. B. Johnson, Mr. W. R. Wilkerson and Mr. W. H. Martin.

Mr. Ed Higgins is to be the floor manager. Good music is promised and a good time is in store for all who may attend.

The young ladies of Bethel Female College were treated to a serenade by the Hopkinsville Cornet Band Tuesday evening. On the same evening Mr. Nat T. Wright and bride were also serenaded. Mr. Wright is a member of the band and his fellow-members complimented him in a very handsome manner. Mr. J. W. Cross, leader and originator of the band, tendered his resignation at the last meeting, as he has determined to remove from the city. He has done much to make the band attain its present high standard of excellence and his place will be hard to fill.

Mr. J. W. Cross and family left Wednesday for Mt. Vernon, Ill. Mr. Cross has been offered a position in a railroad office there. It is with regret that we chronicle the departure of so useful a citizen from Hopkinsville. For a number of years he was a member of the carriage manufacturing firm of Cross, Ducker & Dryer. He is a young gentleman of correct business habits and great moral worth to any community. Actively identified with several benevolent orders and enjoying the confidence and respect of all, he leaves the city carrying with him the best wishes of our citizens. The South KENTUCKIAN wishes him much success and prosperity in whatever he may undertake.

Rev. R. H. Coulter, pastor of the Northern Presbyterian church, has tendered his resignation and will leave next Monday with his family to accept a pastoral call at Gallipolis, Ohio. Mr. Coulter graduated from the Danville, Ky., Seminary five years ago and was called to the church here. He entered upon his duties in 1880 and from the first his efforts began to meet with success and the then feeble church was greatly revived and strengthened. The congregation is now three times as large as it was when Mr. Coulter began his labors. Though yet young in years he is a speaker of much force, a clear and logical reasoner and in social life is a sociable, affable gentleman. We regret to have him leave us, but he is called to a larger and stronger church, the largest in that Presbytery. A special session of the Louisville Presbytery will meet in Louisville in a few days to dissolve his relation with the church here and he will assume the duties of his new charge the third Sunday in this month. He will preach his farewell sermon to his congregation here next Sunday at 11 o'clock.

"Peck's Bad Boy" drew a crowded house Wednesday evening at the Opera House. The play is a medley of pranks with no plot at all. It is one laugh from beginning to end. The characters were Maj. Isaac Peck, Mrs. Hannah Peck, and Henry Peck, their son, Policeman Duffy and his son, Jim. Duffy, the bad boy's chum, Mr. Schultz the grocer, the doctor, the servant girl and Minnie Clay, the boy's girl. All of the characters were well sustained with the exception of Mrs. Peck who seemed to have a serious impediment in her speech as if she had a loose-fitting set of false teeth. Maj. Peck was a fat, dumpy little fellow, with a squeaky voice, and didn't fit the popular conception of the character. With these exceptions the parts were all well represented. The Bad Boy and the Grocer were the leading characters and made the best part of the show. The live goat in the grand "bumper" initiation scene was one of the most amusing features. Taken altogether the play is a good one if fun is merit, and everybody was well pleased with it.

Highway Robbery.

One Case Made Out And Another To Be Tried To-day.

Some Rich Developments Expected.

On last Tuesday night there were two cases of robbery on Nashville street, near the depot. A German from Greenville or vicinity was one of the victims. He was intoxicated and when near the Lewis House, late at night, was knocked down and robbed of $90. Pig Green, a negro, was arrested charged with the crime and was tried yesterday morning. The evidence was such that the court held him over for further trial to-day.

The second case occurred on the same street the same night, the man robbed being C. E. Goodwin, a tobacco buyer from near Princeton, Ky. Mr. Goodwin had been to Clarksville, Tenn., and had two drafts for $1,000 each in his pocket besides about $20 in money. He got under the influence of liquor and was knocked down and robbed of purse, knife, gloves, etc., by a man whom he described as a mulatto. His description fit a negro named Bill Lloyd, who hearing of it had Goodwin arrested for breach of the peace, according to the latter's statement. This was before Goodwin had taken any decisive steps. Goodwin was arraigned yesterday and his trial continued till this morning. A representative of the South KENTUCKIAN saw Mr. Goodwin yesterday and he says that he is positive that Lloyd is the man and that he will swear, and he added further that he had a serious charge to make against the policeman who arrested him. Esq. M. M. Hanberry, of Newstead, is helping Mr. Goodwin manage his case, as the latter is a stranger here, and will have a strong array of witnesses on hand to testify as to Goodwin's character and veracity. It is safe to say that something more is expected to drop with "a dull thud." The developments promise to be rich, rare and racy and if the charges which Goodwin threatens to make can be sustained, one of city police will in all probability be officially decapitated. The case will come up before Esqs. Anderson and Rogers, in the County Court room, at 9 o'clock.

BOLD BURGLARY.

A Cour St. Grocery Raided.

On last Monday night burglars entered W. R. Long's grocery and saloon establishment in the Postell building on Court street and made a heavy haul. They got in by first entering the cellar through the grating and afterwards working their way through the trap door into the storeroom above. They then unscrewed the lock on the back door, which they removed, and helped themselves to all they wanted. Mr. Long says it is impossible for him to tell all that was taken, though the property stolen will probably aggregate $250 at the lowest estimate. The cash drawers were robbed of about $40 in money, and some of the principal articles taken were as follows: 35 gallons of whiskey drawn from a barrel, worth $80; a keg of fine worth $25; 12 bacon hams; several sacks of flour; 1000 cigars and various smaller articles too numerous to mention. The building is a substantial new brick store-room located in a block with several others. Why nobody was aroused is certainly mysterious. There must have been several of the thieves and they probably had a wagon, or else the articles taken were not moved far. No clew has yet been discovered to lead to the detection of the guilty parties.

The Colored Baptist Church.

Hopkinsville, Ky., Feb. 5, 1885.

ED. SOUTH KENTUCKIAN:

For fear some one may be misled in regard to an article that appeared in your paper of the 30th ult., I hope you will give me space to give the facts. W. W. Gray, one of the thirty-two members who have drawn their letters from the Virginia St. Baptist Church, stated in the above mentioned article that we, the members of the Virginia St. Baptist Church, had passed a resolution that we would not recognize the Second Baptist Church members, or Main St. Baptist Church as he calls it. I am the Secretary of the Virginia St. Church and have the record, which will show that no such resolution was passed. But he did not stop at that, he went on to say that this resolution was given encouragement by the pastor, Rev. E. Williams. Now to make a short story of the matter, it is an untrue charge, the honorable gentleman has made against the members of Virginia St. Baptist Church and in conclusion I suggest the old adage to him. "First know you are right, then go ahead."

Respectfully submitted,

ISAIAH H. JONES, Secretary

Virginia St. Baptist Church.

The 14th of this month is St. Valentine's day. This day is always looked forward to with horror by the postmasters. Thousands of valentines, comic, sentimental and scurrilous crowd the mails. The opportunity is seized upon by love-sick youths to divulge their passions, by wags to perpetrate alleged jokes and by covert enemies to convey insults. Most of the valentines sent, however, are not with evil intention, and as the day comes but once a year it is probably not so bad after all, as it is a source of amusement to those who like that kind of fun.

The Jewish young men gave a hop at Howe's Hall last night which was well attended and a highly enjoyable affair.

You Are No Gentleman.

"Do you call yourself a gentleman?"

is the commonest and most withering form of sarcasm in use, not only among snobs, but among coarsenesses, coal-heavers and the like. To persons of admitted pretensions to gentility the question is frequently put, and perhaps negatively answered by the questions when the superior person declines to recognize false or exorbitant claims. This is not long ago I was asked if I called myself a gentleman, by a "young lady" at a refreshment bar because I demurred at paying her a sovereign for not having run away with a purse that I had inadvertently left on the counter for five minutes. And two of her friends declared that I was "no gentleman," without leaving any doubt in the matter. I have been called "no gentleman," for not paying a cabman three times his fare, and for objecting to pay in furnished lodgings for articles which I had neither ordered or consumed. A loafer in the street has sometimes picked up a glove before I could pick it up for myself, or told me that my handkerchief was hanging out of my pocket. In any other country than England the commonest man paying such attentions as these would be insulted by this offer of a reward, but in this country I have been freely called "no gentleman" for not encouraging the lowest kind of what is vulgarly called "cadging." It seems, indeed, that to be a gentleman in the eyes of large classes of the community you must pay whatever may be demanded of you upon any pretext, and ask no questions. "Gentleman," the term "gentleman" has become almost vulgar. It is certainly less employed by gentlemen than by inferior persons. The one speaks of "a man I know," and the other of "a gentleman I know." In the one case the gentleman is taken for granted, in the other it is something to be pointed out. Again, as regards the term "lady," it is quite in accordance with the usages of society to speak of your acquaintance as a "very nice person," or "a very nice lady." People who would say "very nice lady" are not generally of a social class which has much to do with such things; and if you speak of one of them as a "person" you will soon be made to feel your mistake.—All The Year Around.

An Expensive Magazine.

"Would you like to buy that Harper's Magazine?" asked the soft-voiced and timid peasant on the east-bound Union Pacific train the other day to a middle-aged passenger who was looking over Harper and reading an article on the Mormon question.

"No," said the middle-aged party. "It is my own magazine, and therefore I do not care to buy it."

"Excuse me," said the poor, little frightened peasant, while the tears came into his eyes. "I fear you want to cheat a poor orphan boy out of his books. Please pay me, sir, or let me have the magazine for again, but, sir, you would not rob me of my goods."

"No," said the stern stranger. "I do not wish to rob you of your book, my boy, but I bought this on the Utah Northern Road and paid for it. When I went into the eating house for breakfast, the train butcher took it out of my seat and sold it to me again in the afternoon."

"I was in the middle of an article when we got to the dinner station, so I turned down the leaf and left it again in my seat. I had to buy it once more. Now the magazine has cost me $2, and you want me to give it to you so that you can sell it through Nebraska, no doubt. No, my poor little orphan lad, you may go and seek your head for an hour or two and bathe your tear-bedimmed eyes, but I cannot give up my $2 magazine."

"Piddle out your head mecessaries, made by the hostile Indians of Chicago. Sell out your little stock of niceening apples at $27 per barrel, with two prize worms in each and every apple, but do not disturb me while I read my expensive periodical."

"I will not bother you while you sell your fancy mixed candies that have been running back and forth over the road since '69. I will not interfere with you while you sell your Indian curiosities made in Connecticut. Go ahead and make all the money you can, but give me a chance to peruse this article without the routine assessment."

Then the hurt and grieved orphan boy went to the sleeping-car conductor and asked who that sarcastic old cuss over yonder might be, and the conductor said it was the Marquis of Lorne. And it was, too.—Bill Nye.

"Will you please insert this obituary notice?" asked an old gentleman of a Hampton editor. "I make bold to ask it because deceased had a great many friends about here who'd be glad to hear of his death."—Elmira Telegram.

Consumption Cured.

An old physician, retired from practice, having placed in his hands by an East India Missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy for the speedy and permanent cure of Consumption, Bronchitis, Catarrh, Asthma and all the chronic lung affections, also a positive and radical cure for Nervous Debility and all Nervous Complaints, after having tested his wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellow-men. Actuated by this motive and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send free of charge, to all who desire it, this receipt, in German, French or English, with full directions for preparing and using. Sent by mail by addressing with stamp, naming this paper, W. A. NOYES, 149 Power's Block, Rochester, N. Y. Dec. 12 ewits.

Habitual constipation is not only one of the most unpleasant, but at the same time one of the most injurious conditions of the human system, and is but a forerunner of disease, unless removed. This is usually accomplished by the use of purgatives, which for the time afford relief, but after their immediate effects have passed they leave the system in a worse state than before. To effect a cure it is necessary that the remedy used should be one that not only by its cathartic effect relieves the bowels, but at the same time acts as a tonic, so as to restore the organs to a sound healthy condition. This PUCKLY ASTHETIC will do. It removes the cause and restores health.
